Carver-Price School News

Hello Readers! The exams are over and what a great relief. Cards were received on Tuesday, January 31. We shall be looking for the posting of Honor Roll list.

On last Friday our varsity won over Central High, of Charlotte Court House, with a score of 46-38. After getting off to a poor seasonal start, the Panthers seem to show some improvement. However, they will be put to test again Tuesday night, when they face strong competition at the hands of Carter G. Woodson, of Buckingham. And now back to Friday night's game here. Joe Robinson, center, was high scorer with 14 points; George Jennings had 13 points, and Raymond Lawing had 10 points. Central High's high scorer was G. Clark with 19 points.

In the girls' preliminary game the score was 25-15, with Central High winning. High scorer for the girls was Rosa Jones and for Central M. Seldon. The Charlotte girls are winners at the state tournaments.

Group 3, District 4 of the V. I. A. will hold its Baseball Tournament on Saturday, February 25, at the V. M. I. Field House in Lexington, Virginia. The following teams will participate: Booker T. of Staunton; Carver-Price of Appomattox; Lylburn - Downing of Lexington; Jefferson High of Clifton Forge, and Rosenwald, of Waynesboro. Season tickets may be purchased at $1.00 for students and $1.25 for adults. Let's plan to make this trip.

The New Farmers of America had a successful meeting Monday, January 16. $10.00 was contributed for the benefit of the N. F. A.—N. H. A. Camp. Members will make plans for the initiation ceremony to be held February 6, on their regular meeting date. Lawrence Preston, Walter Haynes, and Sidney Watts are asked to make their reports at the next meeting on the drive.

At Assembly on Wednesday, the New Homemakers of America will conduct their Installation Ceremony. New officers to be installed are! President, Celestine Chambers; Vice-President, Juanita Hicks; Secretary,, Laura Fleshman; Assistant Secretary, Valetta McCoy; Treasurer, Effie McCoy; Parliamentarian, Annie Megginson; Reporter, Hazel Gafford.

The "Toast of the Town," presented last week, was very intertaining. Some of the talent and performers who appeared were: Rosetta Lipford, Dianne Tibbs and Frances Austin as a Trio; George Wright imitating King Cole and giving a humorous poem; The Hancock sisters in a comic skit; John Morgan playing the harmonica; Valetta McCoy, Carol Evans, and Affee Austin singing the latest hits. We would like to have more performances as these for revealing those hidden talents.

The Third Graders are very anxious to appear on the Talent Program sponsored by Miss Betts. They came out Tuesday, January 31, looking their best. We hope they are going to do a good job.

Until next week, our thought: "Only what we have wrought into our character during life can we take away with us."

Our cafeteria menu for the next 10 days is as follows:

Fri., Feb. 3: Fried fish, boiled potatoes with butter, buttered green peas, fruit jello, bread, butter, milk.

Mon., Feb. 6: Sauted bologna, buttered corn, string beans, bread, butter, milk, gingerbread.

Tues, Feb. 7: Hamburger patties, lima beans, turnip greens, bread, butter, milk, fruit jello.

Wed., Feb. 8: Hot dogs, cole slaw, boiled potatoes, applesauce, bread, butter, milk.

Thurs., Feb. 9: Beef pie, boiled potatoes, smothered cabbage, bread, butter, milk, gingerbread.

Fri, Feb. 10: Broiled fish, cole slaw, mashed potatoes, bread, butter, milk, apricots.

FARM NEWS

By J. A. Smith, County Agent

Varietal Recommendations

Within the next few weeks many be buying seeds. Seeds account the smallest outlay of money the total cost of production is sidered, therefore it is important seeds be secured that are adapt to Appomattox County. The best is certified seeds, however if are not available, seeds that be been tested for purity and mination should be used. Va. seed should give better results those grown outside the state Virginia grown seed are adapt to the soils and climatic condi of the state.

Recommended field crop varieties: Winter Oats — Arlington, Atlan Lee Cold Proof.

Spring Oats — Andres, Mo-0205.

Red Clover — Certified Kenland, and Virginia Adapted, Virginia apted.

White Clover — Certified Ladino, Orchard Grass — Domestic.

espadeza — Korean (commercial, max, Kobe and Racoon (for ne dede-infested soils).

Alfalfa — Certified Williamsburg, rtified Buffalo (bacterial wilt re stance) Certified Atlantic, Oklaho approved, Kansas Common.

Spray Small Grain

At harvest time, flowers and seed de in the small grain cause addi nal heat to form and therefore silage. If this has been a problem your farm, it may be reduced or tirely eliminated by spraying with 4-D. If the grain is to be sold, value is reduced and if it is to used on the farm, it is a means spreading weed seed. Seeds that e commonly found in small grain a wild mustard, turnips, vetch, wild as, ragweeds, cocklebur and garlic. the time to treat will be in the at few weeks when the grain is to 6 inches tall and the air temperature is above 60 degrees. Or, as soon as the plants have begun to stool.

2, 4-D is used at the rate of one-half to three-quarters pound of the acid equivalent per acre. Use the Amine or Sodium Salt form if resistant weeds are not present. However, if garlic or cockrell are in the field, the Ester form will give better results. This spray will not kill all of the weeds but will slow down their growth or prevent flowers from forming. If lespadeza or other legumes are to be seeded after spraying, you should allow a lapse of three weeks, this depending on the temperature and rainfall. The higher the temperature and the more rainfall, the earlier legumes may be seeded.

Bangs Control

Figures released this week by the State Veterinarian show that Appomattox County was above the state average (percentage) number of cattle tested for brucellosis. Brucellosis is a disease commonly called bangs. It is estimated that there are 4,455 head of cows in Appomattox County. 2,010 or 45.1% were tested in 1955. 47 or 2.3% were found to be reactors.

Statewide, 42.3% of the estimated number of cattle were tested and 1.3% were reactors. Therefore we find that Appomattox County has considerably more cows infected with brucellosis than the average in the state.

The eradication of brucellosis cannot be done by testing alone, but must be a two-fold proposition, that of testing and vaccination. It is estimated that there were 1215 heifers between the ages of 4 and 8 months in Appomattox County last year. Of this number 300 were vaccinated, or 24.7% state - wide. 31.8% of heifers in this age group were vaccinated.

Testing and vaccination should be a definite part of any dairy or livestock operation and should be carried out every year. The loss of animals through abortion is but one phase of the problem. The other is the health problem constituted by this disease. It can be contracted by humans in this form and is often called undulant fever. Those selling Grade A milk will be required to comply with the testing and vaccination program, as will those who sell calfs through feeder calf sales.

Spring Feeder Calf Sale

At the annual meeting of the Feeder Calf Association in Amherst County on January 27th, the date for the spring Feeder Calf Sale was set for April 12th.

Weight limits are 300 to 800 pounds. Heifers consigned to the sale must come from herds that have been tested for TB and bangs within the 12 month period preceding the date of the sale. Calves consigned must also be vaccinated against bangs. Steers consigned do not have to come from TB and bangs tested herds. All calves must receive within thirty days of the sale, a shot for shipping fever and blackleg. Those desiring to consign calves to this sale should contact the county agent.

Planned Feeding

A good feeding schedule in the dairy barn will prevent a lot of off-flavors in milk during the winter months.

Give strong feeds, like silage, after milking, to get rid of most feed flavors in the milk. It's also important to keep feeds cleaned up so there is not a lot of odor around the barn. Most off-flavors get into the milk through the cow after she breathes the too-fragrant air.

Ventilation is the best remedy for ordinary barn odors. Even if you don't have a modern ventilating system in the barn, open windows help. For cold weather, fix the windows so they can be tilted in at the top, but put on side protectors to prevent drafts on the animals.

Milk cooling is as important in winter as in summer. Milk utensils can cause off-flavors. That means you need a milkhouse where you can wash and sterilize the utensils after every milking. And remove the milk from the barn to the milkhouse as soon as possible after milking.

Infrared Chick Brooders

Home flock poultry producers are turning more and more to the infrared lamp method of brooding chicks.

There are several reasons why infrared brooding is being used so extensively. First, the cost of the unit itself is less than any other comparable size brooder. Take a 250 watt infrared lamp for $1.10, a keyless porcelain socket for 25c, and eight feet of extension cord for around 50c, and the small flock owner of from 75 to 100 chicks is in business. His only other need is a fairly tight house and a roll of corrugated paper 12 to 18 inches high.

The chicks are visible at all times and can select their own temperature at any distance they like from the light. A disadvantage is that the infrared lamp brooder generally is a little more expensive to operate per chick than the electric hover brooder.

The brooders are available commercially, or you can make one yourself. Plans are available at the county agent's office.

Another type of electric brooder is the underheat brooder — a permanent type installation which consists of imbedding heating cable in 1 to 1½ inches of concrete laid over 3 inches of light-weight concrete and 4 inches of gravel. Brooders of this type are usually built to accomodate 1,000 to 2,000 chicks. Cost of the installation depends on the extent the farmer can use his own labor. Cost of operation is less than for some other types of brooding. It does not, however, adapt too well to small family flocks.

When considering the various methods of electric brooding, which include the familiar hover-type brooder, you should ask: How much work will the brooder save? Does the method of brooding make sanitation easy? What will it cost to install the equipment. What will it cost to operate the equipment?

Large broiler producers will want to make a detailed study of brooding methods as related to their own situation. Where brooding will mean a sazable investment, poultrymen should make a careful analysis of all the methods of brooding, including forced hot water or forced hot air. The type of poultry house you already have might be a consideration.

Cancer survey indicates a 50 per cent increase in 25 years.

Stonewall

Stonewall, Jan. 31.- I do hope all the ground hogs will stay in Feb. 2, so we can still have pretty weather.

We are so thankful for the nice showers we have had to help the dry earth, and to help the dry tobacco get in order.

Sorry to know Mrs. Colie Rock is on the sick list. Wish for her a speedy recovery. Mr. Rock's mother, from Richmond, is spending a while with them.

Mrs. Martin Kraus received word this week that her little grandson, Sammy Gunter has had an operation in a hospital in Portsmouth. She is expecting to visit him soon as he can have visitors. We wish for him a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Cantrell Smith and baby daughter, Nancy spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Carson. They also attended the wedding of her sister, Anne to Mr. Sonny Showalter on Saturday evening in Lynchburg.

Miss Mary Adcock and Miss Rebecca Babcock, of Appomattox visited Mrs. W. R. Stratton and Mrs. S. L. Scrugs last week.

Mrs. Virginia Davis and son, Dick, and his girl friend, Jean, and Mrs. W. C. Chick, of Norfolk, attended the wedding of Miss Anne Carson to Mr. Sonny Showalter on Saturday evening in Lynchburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wheeler and children and Mrs. Harold Jones, of Richmond spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Irby Wheeler.

Miss Mary Adcock, of Appomattox visited her sister, Miss Edna Adcock one day last week.

There will be more wedding bells ringing around here soon. Congratulations to all the newly-weds.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Cyrus. A son was born to them last week at Virginia Baptist Hospital.

Mr. Claude Smith made a talk at Bethel Church on Sunday morning. It was enjoyed by all present.

Mr. and Mrs. Irby Wheeler called to see Mr. Lester Carson on Saturday night. He is still confined to his bed with broken legs.

Mrs. J. E. Herndon had her mother, Mrs. Tweedy and her family as guests for the week-end.

Mr. Jack Stratton has accepted work at Crewe with the railroad. He can still be at home for week-ends.

Little Donald Lee Drinkard, of Stauntin School spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howlette Drinkard, Sr.

Hixburg

Hixburg, Jan. 30.- Dr. Twyman Williams will fill his regular appointment at Hixburg Presbyterian Church next Sunday, Feb. 5, at 11:00 A. M. There will be special music by the Youth Choir.

Mr. DeWitt Goin is reported to be much improved.

Miss Carrie Hix is spending this week with Mrs. B. G. Grinstead in Richmond.

Pfc. Marvin Glover is back again in Newfoundland. He is due to be mustered out this spring.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Brockwell, of Warwick returned to their home on Saturday P. M.

The neighborhood was shocked by the sudden passing away of William A. Swan, Jr., at the home of his sister, Mrs. S. W. Brockwell, of Warwick. Although he had arthritis for many years, he enjoyed living, and loved to visit his old neighborhood, attend church, and sing in the choir. His cheerfulness was an inspiration to those around him.
